Gas Spring

FOR TAILGATES
TRUNK LIDS
HOODS

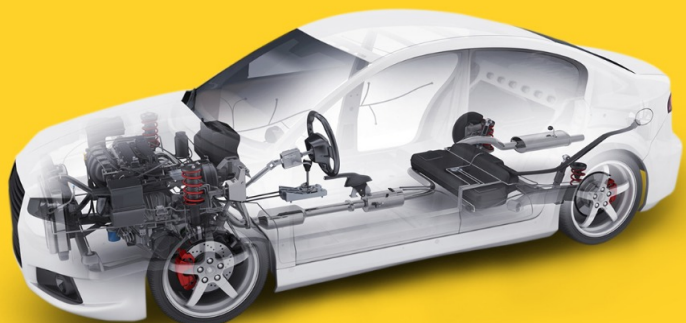

A gas spring consists of a steel tube containing Nitrogen Gas under pressure and the rod which slides in and out of the cylinder.

When the gas spring is compressed by the retraction of the rod, it produces a thrust in return, acting like a spring.

The Gas Spring force (F_1), corresponds to the pressure of the Nitrogen in a cylinder, applied to the surface of piston rod section.

Gepard gas springs are exact replacement for most vehicles sold in the world. The highest quality and durability standards have been applied to their manufacture.
